Notice to the Public.

REFERRING to the statement of the learned Counsel, Theodore Davie, made in the Police Court and published in the daily press, I desire to say that the said learned Counsel met me at the office of Mr. Mills and did consult with me—just as I stated in the Court. I find the following entry in the Office Diary of Mr. Mills, as a legal charge against me: "Pettingell vs. York—"Attending Theodore Davie and Pettingell, "August 25." Also in the "Call Book" kept by the clerk in Mr. Mill's office, that on August 25th the name of said learned counsel, Theodore Davie, appears and immediately thereafter my name appears as callers at the office of Mr. Mills. I defy the said learned counsel, as some of the press are pleased to dub him, to make a statement under oath such as he had the audacity and villainy to make in the court of justice yesterday, Nov. 5. In conclusion I most emphatically say that the learned counsel, Theodore Davie, stood up in a Court of Justice yesterday and stated to the judge thereof deliberate, malicious and wilful lies, and I am able to produce proof to that effect.

Respectfully,
R. C. PETTINGELL.

AN IMPROVIDENT PEOPLE.

The Portland Oregonian Reads the Webb-Feet a Homily on Industry

Which Can be Read with Advantage by Others than Oregonians.

When it is urged that instead of buying them in markets three thousand miles distant, we ought from our own, excellent, abundant and convenient materials to manufacture such simple things as chairs, bedsteads, tin pans, coffee pots, wheelbarrows, leather harness, booths, plows, rakes and a thousand other like articles, it is answered that home manufacture even of these common-place things won't pay. When a demonstration is demanded it always ends in this, that in the past it hasn't paid. No allowance is made for the mistakes, mismanagement and incapacity of those who have attempted it or for a change in the conditions of things in the past few years. Now, as a matter of fact, almost every failure in the manufacturing way in this state has been a natural consequence easily traced back to men and means connected with it. But manufacturing hasn't paid in the past, and so, according to the logic whose results we must accept, it won't pay in the future. There is no use of rebelling against "the inevitable; no advantage in quarreling with people who won't see things when they are plainly set before them, so we must wait for new people, new blood, new enterprise to come into the country before there can be any change in our industrial condition, any advance upon the miserable inactivity which keeps us poor and will continue to keep us poor so long as it prevails. But if we cannot make the simple articles of common use, if we cannot manufacture anything, we can at least feed ourselves. The richest soil and the finest climate in the world (and we have these) can yield enough for us to live on. There can be no difference of opinion on this point. Nobody can doubt the capacity of the country to feed itself. But it doesn't do it. A man who has his depot in the New Market building receives 1000 dozen eggs from Iowa every week for which he finds sale in this city and on Puget Sound. He has bought a goodly quantity of butter recently and is preparing to receive a regular and larger shipment from Iowa. These things he brings from a country where in October it is colder than it ever gets in Oregon, from a region shriveled and blighted by frosts to a region where the air is mild and the grass fresh, paying fast freight for 2000 miles of rail carriage. If it were not a fact it would be an absurdity. But eggs and butter are not the only "coals" that are brought to this "Newcastle." The red salt-water crabs which sprawl upon the fish stalls are not as might be supposed, native Oregonians. They come by steamer eight hundred miles from San Francisco. It "doesn't pay" to pick up crabs on our own coast; but somehow it pays to send to California for them.

And so it is right through. The oat meal you have for breakfast is imported from Minnesota, because probably it doesn't pay to raise and grind oats in Oregon. The ham that follows the mush, is imported from Illinois because it doesn't pay to raise hogs in Oregon. The attendant eggs are from Iowa because it doesn't pay to produce them in Oregon. The mackerel which comes along somewhere in the course is imported from across the continent because salmon and brook trout are not good enough. The hot cakes which complete this meal are made from imported buck-wheat, and sweetened with imported molasses, because it doesn't pay to grind buck-wheat of the valley nor reduce the sorghum of eastern Oregon. The butter which seasons the feast comes from Iowa; and the salt comes from England, because it does not pay to refine the product of the Scappoose springs. All these things are cooked by a fire made of English coal, in pots and dishes imported from far away and served by a Chinaman. There is no exaggeration here—all this is too true. We do not feed ourselves even upon those common things which grow in this country better than anywhere else in the world. And this is why the country is "hard up," why it groans under a burden of foreign mortgages.

We state this case over again for the public good, and certainly without any small purpose of fault-finding. Certain persons have attempted to rebuke The Oregonian for its outspoken course in dealing with this vital subject. They are of those who, if a fatal contagion prevailed in the city, would conceal the fact because it might keep people away and so make trade dull. It is, as we take it, the business of a newspaper to present things as they are, to keep the public which it serves informed of "the situation" within and without. The Oregonian tries to do this, and it will not desist because the "medicine is hard to take."

NOW AND THEN.

Departure of the First Train from Montreal to the Rocky Mountains.

The departure of the first train from Montreal to the Rocky Mountains, on Monday next, says the Montreal Herald, will be an event in the history of Canada. There are some amongst us who were wont to set out on that journey from Lachine, traveling all the way, to what is now Winnipeg, by canoe, and from thence by slow stages across the prairie on horseback or by wagon. This was an operation of many months. It is but a few years since the journey from Port Arthur to Edmonton was made in the same way, and even after the construction of the Canada Pacific had been commenced, very many believed that a generation would pass away before rail would be laid round the north of Lake Superior. But the energy that has been displayed in building the railway has put the doubters to shame, and after Monday next the public will be enabled to reach the Rocky Mountains in less time than they have hitherto taken to pass the limits of Ontario.

Hundreds of letters from those using Ayer's Hair Vigor attest its value as a restorer of gray hair to its natural color. As a stimulant and tonic, preventing and often curing baldness, and cleansing and soothing the scalp, its use cannot be too strongly recommended. *

Trial proves that honesty is the best policy in medicine as well as in other things. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine preparation, an unequalled blood purifier, decidedly superior to all others. *

—The notice of seizure in the case of the United States vs. the Eliza Anderson has been published. Bonds will be furnished and the steamer taken out of the custody of the customs authorities, and placed on her route again.

HE WILL NOT HANG.

The Premier in a Quandry, but will Escape Scathless.

The government organs in the east, according to the Montreal Herald, are not all in the same tune on the Riel question. Sir Hector Langevin's particular mouthpiece, Le Monde, gave its readers to understand that a medical commission composed of five experts, of whom two are French-Canadians are to examine into Riel's sanity, or in other words, that Riel is not to be hanged. On the other hand, the Mail says: As it is not the province of the Executive to review the finding of juries on questions of fact, unless new evidence has in the meantime come to light—and it is not pretended that such a thing has happened here—it follows that the verdict cannot now be challenged on the ground of the prisoner's insanity. And we presume that the sentence of the Court will be duly carried out and Riel executed for his crime. We are not so sure about that, adds the Herald. That he ought to be and that he will be are not the same things. In the meantime people are asking for explanation of this want of harmony between these mirrors of Cabinet Ministers. There is an alternative explanation; either Le Monde's announcement was a straw thrown up to learn the force and direction of the wind, or the Mail has been kept in the dark. Possibly the Mail is not alone in this respect; it would not be incompatible with the ways of our astute Premier to arrange all this with Sir Hector Langevin and to have allowed the rest of the cabinet to think what they pleased. The veteran statesman is in a most difficult position, but he has not governed Canada for the greater part of half a century without knowing how to meet even so serious a difficulty as this. That there is something "up" can be readily seen. While the English supporters of the government are being assured by the Toronto Mail, Ottawa Citizen, Montreal Gazette, etc., that Riel will surely hang, the French supporters are being as earnestly assured by the French government papers that he will surely not hang; and what is strangest is that one class of newspapers does not challenge the positive statements of the other class on the subject. The inference is that "an understanding" has been come to, and it seems reasonable to suppose that it is based on the appointment of a lunacy commission. Such a commission having been established, the doctors will differ, of course, and the prisoner will receive the benefit of the doubt. Therefore, Riel will not hang.

FRASER RIVER SALMON.

What the Future of the Commercial Pack Will be.

Mr. John Elwood, a Semiahmoo merchant, who has also a salmon cannery at Point Roberts, says he put up this season 300 barrels of what are known commercially as "salmon bellies." "Salmon are so numerous," he said, "at Point Roberts that we only take the best part of the fish to put up; we find a market for the products of our establishment in Chicago and the east. But I would say that the salmon industry at Point Roberts and on the Fraser river is in its very infancy. I expect to put up next year between 3000 and 4000 barrels. On the Fraser river the past season the pack was in the neighborhood of 200,000 cases, but next year it promises to far exceed that amount. Besides the fact that Fraser river salmon are superior in quality and of size more easily handled than those of the Columbia river, an additional impetus will be given to the industry of putting them up for reason of cheap freight rates promised by the Canadian Pacific railroad. Freights, I am informed by an agent of that road, will be from a fourth to a third less than those offered by any other transcontinental line. Speaking of the runs Mr. Elwood said there were three at Point Roberts and on the Fraser river a year. In May, the tyee has the call. It is the biggest salmon that inhabits our waters. The sockeyes appear a month later but run light for two years. In August comes the silver-side or as the Indians call them, the cobo."

Mr. Elwood says that the Bellingham Bay railroad would reach the Canadian Pacific by bringing the Fraser river at a point where an island occurs midway between the shores, about thirty-five miles east of Port Moody. One pier of the bridge will be built on the island and a pier on each bank. At first likely a transfer boat will be used to make connection.

RAILWAY LANDS.

Surveys to be Made of Lands Occupied by Actual Settlers.

Instructions have been received by the Hon. J. W. Trutch from the Minister of the Interior to cause surveys to be made of all unsurveyed land occupied by actual settlers, who are entitled to or are about to become entitled to patents by preemption on the Vancouver Island Railway Reserve. Commenting on this, the Nanaimo Free Press says: "Patents for lands on the Reserve, surveyed and paid for, over eighteen months ago, have been applied for to the Department of the Interior, and many applicants have felt inclined to blame the Dominion government for the delays, and for their failure, or negligence to furnish them with their patents. But on inquiring of Mr. Gordon, he informs us that the Department of the Interior replying to a letter from him, written about the middle of August last urging the issue of these patents, stated: 'That up to that moment (the 16th of September last) the Department of the Interior had not received from the provincial government the information necessary to enable them to issue these patents, and also stating that the descriptions of the lands furnished by the provincial government was such that after consultation with the law offices of the crown, the Minister of the Interior had come to the conclusion that they were entirely insufficient to properly convey title to the applicants, and that the necessary additional information called for by the Department must be received from the provincial authorities before those patents could issue."

PUSHED WITH EXTRAORDINARY VIGOR.

The New York Evening Post in referring to the completion of the Canadian Pacific railway says: Even the majority of business men interested in railroads and stocks will learn with surprise that the Canadian Pacific railroad is practically completed from Montreal to Port Moody, on the Pacific coast. The construction has been pushed with extraordinary vigor in the last few months, and there are only a week or two's work yet before trains can run regularly all the way through.

WILL IT BE ACCOMPLISHED?

A Gap of Three and a Quarter Miles to be Closed To-day.

KAMLOOPS, Nov. 6.—A gap of three and a quarter miles remained to be completed this morning before the last spike can be driven, which is expected to take place to-night.

ANXIETY OVER RIEL.

The Government Alarmed—Special Guards Watch the Condemned Man—A Memento from the Pope.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Owing to the discovery of an alleged compact on the part of some of the residents in this place to take the life of Riel, should the Dominion Government fail to execute him, the government has become alarmed and has doubled the guard over the prisoner at the barracks at Regina. The prisoner has been placed under special charge of a commissioned Officer. Special mounted guards have been told off to patrol for miles about the barracks, to see that the garrison is not surprised and the prisoner rescued. As the time for the execution draws nigh Riel grows nervous and fidgety, and professes to believe he will not be executed, but evidently suffers mentaly, as he has become considerably emaciated. It is reported that Archbishop Tache has written to the Pope to use any influence he might be able to exercise to save the prisoner for the part that Riel played in the recent rebellion and that of 1869. The Pope sent him a memento in the shape of an alleged nail purporting to have been taken from Christ's cross.

TROUBLE FEARED IN MONTREAL.

The French Papers Accuse the Mayor of Being a Murderer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A Montreal special says: Montreal is evidently on the eve of another riot. The forcible removal of Gagnon's children to the hospital by the Mayor and Sanitary officers, has evoked a storm of indignation from the French papers. La Minerve described Mayor Beaugrand as a murderer and revolutionary autocrat. Says Le Monde: You have no heart; you have not got the right to maltreat those who have done you honor. Your inhuman and barbarous conduct caused the death of brave Gagnon's child. You are responsible for this death yesterday. You triumphed over poor and courageous Gagnon, from whom you took his children and his wife, whom you have thrown into prison, with his children. You are victorious, but your injustices, your cruelties, your arbitrariness, have already crushed you and covered you with shame and dishonor. La Minerve goes further, and invites the populace to resist the officers. As a result of which the Mayor has issued warrants for the arrest of M. Vanasse, M. P., and editor, and M. Gettmas, sub-editor, of La Minerve, on a charge of personal and seditious libel against Mr. Beaugrand in his capacity as Mayor.

THE WEEKLY TIMES.

The above popular weekly was issued this morning, and copies are to be had at the bookstores and at the office of publication. The current number is a superb one, possibly the very best yet published. It contains the usual weekly budget of foreign and domestic news received by mail and by special telegraph dispatches up to the hour of going to press, carefully prepared and edited for our readers. To friends at a distance, no better present can be sent than a copy of the WEEKLY TIMES. It is a perfect reflex of life in the Pacific Province of Canada. It is now permanently enlarged to eight pages of closely printed matter, of which it gives more than any other journal in the Northwest. Buy a copy and examine for yourselves.

BARKERVILLE NEWS.

A Murderous Assault on a Chinaman—An Arrest Made.

BARKERVILLE, 30th Oct., 1885.

Some excitement was occasioned in town the other day, by the report that a Chinaman on Cunningham creek had been attacked and fatally wounded by an axe in the hands of a countryman. As more definite news came in, it was learned that three Chinamen living together in a cabin, on Cunningham creek, had been attacked on Sunday night and badly beaten with a pickhandle, the alleged object of the assault being to get possession of some gold dust. In this, however, he failed, but he came very near making himself a murderer as well as a robber—one of the three attacked having received three terrible scalp wounds and bruises on other parts of his body. He was brought over to Barkerville, but is now in a fair way to recover. A Chinaman named Ah Wong was arrested here and stands charged with the assault; but there are those who believe he is not the right man, and who declare that the prisoner was seen here on the night of the alleged assault. You know that for "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" the Heathen Chinee is peculiar; and shrewd ones imagine that the three [illegible] in a family quarrel and one of them getting badly, and as they feared fatally injured, they concluded to "put up" the assault on a stranger. The investigation of the alleged assault before Cadi Stone stands over to await the result of the injuries to the wounded man.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Halifax, has voted to call Rev. Mr. Cattanach, of Sherbrooke, Quebec, to the vacant pastorate, with a salary of $1600.

Mr. Jas. Cresson of Cobourg, Ont., is making a large addition to his carpenter and cabinet shop, and he will put in six or seven new machines. This is rendered necessary for the turning out of sleeping and other cars for the C. P. R. company.

Mr. F. McLeod, late Attorney-General of New Brunswick, and now one of the local members for St. John city, is reported to be the Tory candidate for the House of Commons in the vacancy caused by Sir Leonard Tilley's retirement.

TODAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Associated Press Despatches to The Times

THE TIMES OFFICE,
Victoria, 4.30 p. m., Nov. 6.

PROF. TYNDALL ON THE GLADSTONE GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—John Tyndall, Scientist, has written a letter, in which he declines to stand as a candidate for parliament for Renfrew, Scotland. He says that the permanent atmosphere of the House would not suit him. He belongs to no party, but if the House permits its members to speak by virtue of special knowledge, or when they had anything profitable to say, he will willingly accept an election. He then proceeds to deny that he denounced the Gladstone Cabinet, which he said had caused five years humiliation abroad and confusion at home. The Conservatives are distributing Tyndall's letter broadcast everywhere.

BRIGHT OPENS THE CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Mr. Bright opened the campaign at Birmingham yesterday, and was given an enthusiastic reception. He made a speech in which he gave a retrospect of the Tory opposition to measures of freedom. He regretted that both parties had blundered in their foreign policies, and deprecated fighting with, or annexing Burmah. Mr. Bright will speak again to-day.

RUSSIA AND BULGARIA.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The erasure of the name of Prince Alexander from the Russian army list has created a sensation even in St. Petersburg, and is believed to indicate an absolute rupture between Russia and Bulgaria.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF KING MILAN.

LISCH, Nov. 6.—A conspiracy among the followers of Prince Karageorgivie was discovered yesterday here. It has more supporters than was at first believed, and has many influential men in its fold. It is learned to-day that it was the intention of the conspirators to take King Milan's life, while the leader of the plot was M. Vilajevic. A number of persons connected with the conspiracy have been arrested. The excitement throughout Servia is intense.

THE GERMAN ELECTION.

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—As a result of the election for members of the Prussian Diet, the strength of parties in the lower House is as follows: Conservatives, one hundred and forty; Free Conservatives, sixty; Clericals, ninety nine; National Liberals, seventy; New German Liberals, forty-four; Poles, 14; Danes, 2; Guelphs, 3. The German Liberals are victorious in Berlin and Brest, the Nationals in Hanover, and the Clericals in Cologne and Frankfort.

NATIONALISTS CANDIDATES.

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.—The Nationalists of Wexford, in convention to-day, elected Messrs. Barry and John Redmond, as their candidates for members of parliament in the coming election. Mr. Parnell in a speech said that coercion had been crushed and the coercers pulled from power; that there was no longer any question of paddling municipal and petty reforms, as Ireland's legislative independence was drawing near.

WHAT THE EPIDEMIC COSTS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—At a meeting of the Civic Finance Committee this afternoon a statement was submitted showing that $75,000 have already been spent to put down the smallpox epidemic.

An official report to the Board of Health says there are seven hundred houses in this city infected with smallpox, of which 305 are placarded.

ARCTIC WHALERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The arctic whalers Ohio, Josephine and Abram Barker arrived to-day. They bring 1900 barrels of oil and 18,000 pounds of whalebone.

UPPER EGYPT.

CAIRO, Nov. 5.—Six thousand rebels are advancing toward Wady Halfa. The Durham regiment received orders to start for that place on Sunday instead of Wednesday. A battery of artillery follows the regiment.

HEAVY RAINS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Heavy rains are falling in the Midland district, the water in some places is two feet in depth spoiling crops.

ARREST FOR CONSPIRACY.

BELGRADE, Nov. 6.—Six persons have been arrested here for conspiracy in an attempted overthrow of the government.

PREPARING TO ATTACK BELGRADE.

PHILLIPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Prince Alexander is concentrating a fleet of vessels and a large number of troops near Widden with a view of attacking Belgrade, the capital of Servia by way of the Danube river.

THE CASCADE DIVISION.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 4.—Orders were received here to-day from the headquarters in New York, to prosecute work on the Cascade division of the Northern Pacific, with all possible dispatch.

THE DOLPHIN ACCEPTED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—It was ascertained yesterday that negotiations for the transfer of the steamer Dolphin have been pending between her builder and Secretary Whitney for some time past, and would have been consummated earlier but for the difficulty in obtaining the sureties Roach is obliged to furnish. The difficulties have now disappeared, however, and the papers are duly signed and sealed, and the government has at last become possessor of the craft whose vagaries on her trial cruise have been [illegible].

CHINATOWN, TACOMA, BURNED.

The Chinese houses in the First Ward Tacoma, were burned by some miscreant on Thursday, after the Chinamen had departed. The News offers the highly 'ncid explanation that some of the Chinamen must have sneaked back from Lake river and fired the buildings.

DREDGER ROCK.

The contract for the removal of Dredger Rock has been awarded to Mr. C. Hayward, who will begin work at once. The rock is located off Laing's Way near the center of the arm and is a great impediment to navigation. It will be removed to give a depth of thirteen feet at low tide, which will require four feet to be taken off its highest point. The contract price is stated to be somewhere in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Mr. James Dowdall, of Almonte, a well-known barrister, died to-day.

WHY SHOULD IT BE SO?

The eloquent and exhaustive speech delivered by His Excellency the Governor-General, at the banquet tendered him in this city, has been much discussed in the east. The Toronto World, in dealing with the speech, says: While giving LORD LANSDOWNE credit for his display of taste in this respect, we feel constrained to point out an egregious error into which he fell when he asked Canadians to be thankful because they have "access to the highest tribunal in the empire." It is our duty to tell him that that "access" is one of our grievances, and that any man who goes about describing it as one of our blessings makes us smile. Why should not the supreme court of Canada be supreme? Why should a wealthy litigant, a large corporation, for instance, have the power to drag a less wealthy litigant, an ordinary business man, for instance, to England, where the less wealthy litigant can ill afford to go, if he can go at all? Why should the RIEL case have gone to England? RIEL is a Canadian. So are the men who drove him out of his rifle pits. The witnesses, the lawyers, and everybody concerned in the case, are Canadians, notwithstanding which we have had to await the finding in the case of a handful of old gentlemen who knew nothing about it, except what Canadian lawyers were able to tell them! The force of absurdity could have no further gone. LORD LANSDOWNE may rest assured that Canadians expect to find a liberal allowance of flummery in the postprandial speeches of governors-general. LORD DUFFERIN inured them to that. But they do not expect to be told that the right of appeal to the privy council is a boon.

THE KAISER ON RELIGION.

EMPEROR WILLIAM last week visited the Cathedral Chapel at Berlin, to inspect the new altar picture. "The Adoration of the Magi." Court Chaplain KOGEL, related to the Emperor the history of the picture, and COUNT VON ARNIM, President of the Synod, thanked His Majesty for his continued favors. The Emperor, in reply, congratulated Chaplain KOGEL upon his devotion to well-doing and said: "As for what you have said about me personally, I accept it with all modesty as a man whose days are now numbered. In my lifetime Heaven has covered me with blessings, and more especially in my old age, but the homage paid me I lay at the throne of the Highest, from whom we derive strength to execute all the best things that can be done on earth. Within the last few years before the eyes of all of you, things have happened by which Prussia has been raised higher than ever we expected. You have all been witnesses of the great work accomplished, which will continue to endure if its foundations remain in purity of religion and progress in every good deed. In my old days I call heaven to witness that I have ever looked upon religion as the sole foundation on which everything reposes, and as the highest good of my people.

THERE are all sorts of queer occupations connected with literature. For instance, it is said that there is now in London a woman who earns a livelihood by skilfully filling up wormholes in old books, each leaf being separately and patiently dealt with, the material being chewed, or "pulped," and pressed into the hole. The [illegible]

BOTH MR. BRIGHT and MR. CHAMBERLAIN have given their explicit approval to the disestablishment movement in Wales. Letters were read from those gentlemen at a recent meeting in Liverpool in connection with the Liberation society of North Wales. MR. CHAMBERLAIN gave it as his opinion that in the principality the question had long been ripe for settlement, and hoped that in the next Parliament there would be an unmistakable expression of the wishes of the Welsh people. MR. BRIGHT'S letter was to the same intent. The Established Church was in Wales an alien church, and, holding that conviction, he trusted the episcopacy there would soon, like other denominations, be separated from the state.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

Ever since the Exposition of 1851, in Regent's Park, London, there has been a strong desire on the part of Europeans to extend business relations with those of the Western hemisphere. So strong has this desire become that it is now stated that almost every article of either American or Canadian manufacture becomes at once fashionable. It is held that with the facilities which a permanent emporium for such goods and articles would afford in the world's greatest mart, intending purchasers would be spared the great inconvenience, which they now meet in endeavoring to find out the addresses of the various American and Canadian stores in London. That Canadian made goods, if introduced, would find a ready market in all parts of Europe will be seen, by reference to the extract from the reports of United States consuls in that section regarding the importance of the American exhibition in London. The conditions favoring a large trade in agricultural implements no doubt exist in many other consular districts in Europe as well as in that of Catania, Sicily, where, the ploughs of the old Greeks and Romans are still used, the grain is cut with a sickle, threshed by the feet of cattle, winnowed by a rude hand seive, etc. Agricultural implements here are of the rudest kind. The tools of the mechanics are better, but still greatly inferior to ours. In neatness of finish, beauty of workmanship, excellence of material, and skilful adaptation to use, says a writer, American implements and machinery excel those of the old world.

The approaching Colonial exhibition will afford the manufacturers of Canada an opportunity to test their skill with those of the other British Colonies and India. In the manufacturing line this province is yet but in its infancy; but in the products of the mine, the forest and the stream, British Columbia can and ought to make a splendid showing. Already our farmers have tested their ability, and demonstrated to the world the fact that British Columbia can grow as good a quality of wheat as can any country in the universe. In roots, vegetables, and certain classes of fruit, it is asserted that an equally creditable display can be made. The completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway will attract much attention to this province from abroad. Becoming, as it undoubtedly will ere long, the highway from the commercial and manufacturing centres of the Occident to the Orient, and vice versa, people will visit our province who under other circumstances would not think of undertaking such a trip. While a welcome hand should be held out to all, the class most acceptable for some time to come will be those who will embark in farming and stock raising. Every encouragement should be extended to this class of immigrants by a liberal land policy on the part of the government. If a proper representation of the Provinces' resources be made in London next year it will be the cheapest and best advertisement the country ever invested in. But unless the people aid the Dominion and provincial governments in making the display worthy of our glorious province the scheme, so far at least, as British Columbia is concerned, will not be claimed as a success.

SANGUINE OF THE FUTURE.

Discussing the possibilities of San Francisco's future trade relations the Journal of Commerce of that city says: There need be no cause for alarm as to the future of San Francisco. We had an article yesterday on manufactures being imperative to our success, but these manufactures we will infallibly have. San Francisco as a market will be the cheapest point in thousands of miles for obtaining raw material, and sooner or later the skill and capital will come to take advantage of the situation. Thus, our future is assured as far as manufactures are concerned. As to commercial supremacy, all roads lead to Rome, and all highways and byways of trade on the Pacific coast to San Francisco. Of course the teas and silks intended for the east only pass through San Francisco now, but by and by they will come here and be warehoused and sold from this point as a grand central entrepot. All the grain and wine and wool and hops and gold and lumber and fish, and all the various other products of the coast for a thousand miles, north and south, and for an indefinite distance in the interior, must ultimately find a market here, and merchants will make a profit of their purchase and sale. The grain trade, which has equalled in wheat and flour alone over a million tons a year, must rapidly increase in even a few years to come. Oregon and Washington Territory, during the past year, have been pouring in on us wheat, barley, flour, oats, and produce of a score of different kinds, and this is only the beginning. The roads that secure or [illegible] the Northwest will all eventually bring their tribute to the Golden City of the West. The railroad, though apparently injurious to us in some respects, will make this city the entrepot of all the Oriental nations for all the continent, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The best teas, sugar, coffee, spices, etc., in the world are produced on the Pacific islands and countries. They will naturally seek this port as a center for storage and sale. The numerous roads that may reach the Pacific Coast in years to come will have depots here, and will render San Francisco more accessible than of yore and bring a continual stream of population and wealth hither. The city has been growing at a great rate during the past two years, despite the depressing influence of dull times, and building operations are more active now than ever. There is every reason to believe that they will continue so. Wealth attracts wealth and population attracts population, and the mere force of commercial gravitation will draw business of every description hither. We know that this is all opposed to the pessimist diatribes of many who cannot see beyond the present. But hard times do not last alway. There is a silver lining to every cloud, and the darkest hour is just before the dawn of a glorious day.

A BY-LAW

For raising the sum of $16,000 to provide for and improve the Public Lighting of the City of Victoria.

WHEREAS the present Public Lighting of the City of Victoria is insufficient, and is expedient and necessary to extend and improve the same, and for that purpose to raise by way of loan, upon the credit of the said city the sum of $16,000.

And whereas it will require the sum of $1,3[illegible] to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt intended to be hereby created and the interest thereon.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said city, according to the last revised assessment roll, is $5,000,000.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 1-22 of one cent in the dollar for paying the interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said intended debt according to the Municipality Act 1881.

Be it therefore enacted by the Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said city to raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $16,000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said city for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

2. It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, either in currency or sterling money, not less than [illegible] each, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the said Mayor.

3. The said debentures shall be made payable in twenty years from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-Law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer, City Hall, Victoria, in the Province of British Columbia, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and interest thereon at the rate aforesaid, an equal special rate of 1-22 of one cent in the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be assessed, raised, levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the said city of Victoria during the said term of twenty years from the coming into effect of this By-Law, unless such debentures shall be sooner paid.

6. It shall be lawful for the said Corporation from time to time to repurchase any of the said debentures at such price or prices as shall in each case be mutually agreed, and all debentures so repurchased shall be forthwith cancelled, and no reissue of debentures or of any debenture shall be made in consequence of such repurchase.

7. This By-Law shall, before the final passing thereof, receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided by the Municipality Act 1881, and shall take effect on from and after the day of the final passing thereof.

8. This By-Law may be cited for all purposes as the Public Lighting By-Law, 1885.

Passed the Municipal Council the 16th day of September, A. D. 1885.
Received the assent of the Ratepayers the 29th day of September, A. D. 1885.

A BYLAW

For Raising the Sum of $5000 to Obtain Plans and Specifications for the Drainage of the City of Victoria.

WHEREAS IT IS EXPEDIENT AND NECESSARY to provide a complete and permanent system of Drainage for the City of Victoria, and before commencing the construction thereof to obtain plans and specifications for such a system upon the best sanitary and scientific principles.

And whereas for the purpose of obtaining such plans and specifications by public competition, it is expedient and necessary to raise by way of loan upon the credit of the said City the sum of $5000.

And whereas it will require the sum of $[illegible] to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt intended to be hereby created and the interest thereon.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said City, according to the last revised assessment roll, is $5,000,000.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 1-100 of a cent in the dollar for paying the interest and creating a yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said intended debt according to the Municipality Act, 1881.

Be it therefore enacted by the Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said City to raise by way of loan, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $5000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said City for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

3. The said debentures shall be made payable in twenty years, from the day hereinafter mentioned, for this Bylaw to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer, City Hall, Victoria, in the Province of British Columbia, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures, and interest thereon, at the rate aforesaid, an equal special rate of 1-100 of one cent in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be assessed, raised, levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the said City of Victoria during the said term of twenty years from the coming into effect of this Bylaw, unless such [illegible]

6. It shall be lawful for the said Corporation from time to time to re-purchase any of the said debentures at such price, or prices, as shall in each case be mutually agreed, and all debentures so re-purchased shall be forthwith cancelled, and no reissue of debentures shall be made in consequence of such re-purchase.

7. This Bylaw shall, before final passing thereof, receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided by the Municipality Act, 1881, and shall take effect on from and after the day of the final passing thereof.

8. This Bylaw may be cited for all purposes as the Drainage Bylaw, 1885.

Passed the Municipal Council the 16th day of September, A. D. 1885.
Received the assent of the Ratepayers the 29th day of September, 1885.

ROSE ROMANCE.

Two roses, freshly sweet and rare,
 Bloomed in the dewy morning
On neighboring bushes green and fair,
 One garden-bed adorning.
"Ah!" sighed the pair, "what joy, what pride,
 If on one branch together
We two were growing side by side
 Through all this golden weather!"

There came a youth who roughly tore
 The roses from their bowers,
And to his sweetheart proudly bore
 The two fair, fragrant flowers.
Upon her bosom with delight
 They bloomed—but not forever;
They faded—ah! but rapture bright,
 They faded there together.

The Dropping of the "H."

[Leland's London Letter.]

By the way, it may be as well to remind American comic writers that English people of rank do not misplace h neither do they say "blarsted," nor "cawnt" for "can't." I see by the New York humorous papers that this "aw" is supposed in that town at least to represent the English broad a. The fact is that the sound as here given is like r, not positively rolled, but still an r. As for the h the line between white blood and black is not as distinctly drawn in American as that between those who do or do not this evil thing. Socially speaking to misplace an h is the unpardonable sin. One may possess every virtue and accomplishment but, as I have heard it put, "drop an h and you are d—d." This is one great cause why there is such a line of demarcation between the classes, and why the lower class recognize their own inferiority.

I once heard a very pretty, ladylike, well-dressed woman say that a certain man had paid attention to her, but could not, of course, marry her, because he was a "gentleman." After a while I heard her drop an h, and it was all clear. A pariah in India might as well talk of a Brahmin as a husband. What is most extraordinary in this manner of mispronunciation is that it seems to be incurable. I have heard of a quadroon in America, before the war, who told her mistress that, if being skinned alive and rolled in salt for a year would make her white, she would gladly submit to it. I am sure there are hundreds of thousands in England who would do the same to be able to speak their own language correctly.

There is one sound in Welsh and two in Arabic which I could never master, simply because my ear could never detect it, for I am one of the unfortunate few who have no natural gift for languages and only learn one by labor. So the vulgar English ear can not detect the h, or it rather invariably hears the contrary. Some people will talk for hours, however, without betraying this, but when they become excited and forgetful there comes at first a little h in and then a small h out "until the floor is kneedeep with dropped h's." Many English people think than Americans enjoy superior culture, simply because we do not manifest this singular defect.

Sir Astley Cooper as a Horse Doctor.

[Scientific American.]

In the life of Sir Astley Cooper it is said that he required his coachman to attend every market-morning at Smithfield, and purchase all lame young horses exposed for sale which he thought might possibly be convertible into carriage or saddle horses, should they recover from their defects. He was never to give more than 7 pounds sterling for each, but pounds sterling was the average price. In this manner thirty or forty horses were sometimes collected at Gaelisbridge, his farm. On a stated morning every week the blacksmith came up from the village, and the horses were in successive order caught, haltered, and brought to him for inspection.

Having discovered the cause of their lameness, he proceeded to perform whatever seemed to him necessary for the cure. The improvement produced in a short time by good feeding and medical attendance, such as few horses before or since have enjoyed, appeared truly wonderful. Horses which were at first with difficulty driven to pasture, because of their halt, were now, with as much difficulty restrained from running away. Even one fortnight at Gaelisbridge would frequently produce such an alteration in some of them that it required no unskillful eye in the former owner himself to recognize the animal which he had sold but a few weeks before. Fifty guineas were paid for one of these animals, which turned out a very good bargain, and Sir Astley's carriage was for years drawn by a pair of horses which together cost him only 12 pounds 10 shillings sterling.

We believe a similar business to that of Sir Astley Cooper is carried on by a class of horse dealers in New York and other large cities. Lame and otherwise worthless horses are bought for a few dollars and taken to the country, where the change to pasture diet, the needed rest, and the watchful and careful treatment of the owner frequently transforms a worthless horse into a valuable animal.

Hints on Summer Diet.

[The Cook.]

Milk is a very important summer diet, but should be used in moderation or it is liable to produce ill effects. Drink it in small mouthfuls and rest a moment between them. Dyspeptic persons are advised to beat the milk a few moments before drinking. That treatment breaks the butter globules and renders digestion easier.

We strongly recommend skimmed milk and fresh buttermilk as summer drinks instead of ice water. The ice water dyspepsia, a common malady during the summer months, may be entirely removed by using churned buttermilk, accompanied by what is known as a moderately dry diet.

Breakfast should not be a heavy meal and hot food should be used in moderation. Hot tea and coffee liberally partaken often prevents one from feeling comfortable all day. Radishes, ice cold, oatmeal crackers and milk, a dainty slice of cold lamb, fresh fruit and cold asparagus present a breakfast that makes hot weather a luxury.

A Lucky Thing.

[Wall Street News.]

"You see," he was explaining, in answer to the inquiry of what the prospects in Wisconsin were, "our folks are about discouraged."

"What's the trouble?"

"Cholera."

"Why, the cholera hasn't reached us yet."

"I know, but everbody's talking. We can't raise cucumbers on account of the scare, and we dasn't go into onions on account of the bad weather. We shall shell out a few 'taters, a little corn and more or less wheat, but I tell you, stranger, if my wife didn't earn $1 a day at dress-making I'd be ready to give up the battle."

Fortunate for George.

[New York Sun.]

"Do I love George," mused Clara softly, "or is it simply a sister's affection that I feel for——"

Just then Bobby burst noisily into the room and interrupted her sweet meditations.

"Get out of here, you little brat!" she shouted, and seizing him by the arm she shot him through the door.

"Ah, no," she sighed, as she resumed her interrupted train of thought. "My love for George is not a sister's love. It is sweeter, purer, higher and holier."

—Mr. Henry Wood has been appointed Deputy District Registrar for the Clinton Judicial District.

—The collections at the port of Nanaimo for the month of October were $3,491.66.

—The total exportation of coal from Nanaimo during October were 29,525 tons.

—A sitting of the County Court will be held at Maple Bay on Saturday, 14th November.

—The Colonist apologizes to the Free Press for mis-quoting its words. An excellent precedent which it should always follow.

—There were 22 cases in the New Westminster County Court, which sat on Wednesday, but only eight came up for hearing.

—The Bishop of New Westminster is expected to dedicate the new church at Delta and hold a confirmation on the 22nd inst.

—A lot on the southeast corner of King's avenue and Douglas street has recently been sold for $1000. The price indicates that Victoria property retains its value.

—Steps have been taken to open a winter road to Granite Creek mines. It is estimated that it will cost $3000 to construct 60 miles of a sleigh road.

—Street omnibus time table has been slightly amended. We would advise our readers to cut this time table out for reference.

—Mr. Van Volkenburg, who came over the Hope trail with a band of cattle a few days ago, reports a slight fall of snow on the mountains.

—Mr. Ross, of this city has secured the contract for building the new school house at Nanaimo. The building will be proceeded with immediately.

—For the month of October the customs receipts at New Westminster were: Customs, $6,887.84; other revenues, $1,… ; total $8,932.64. This is $1,251.53 less than for the same period last year.

—Mr. Andrew McKinlay, a farmer of Cedar District, had his arm broken in two places, a few days ago, while working with a yoke of cattle among some logs.

—In Mr. A. J. McColl's letter which appeared a few days ago, in reference to the Barkerville school difficulty, a sentence should read "no demur" instead of "the demur"

—Given away three times every day; the best two-bit meal in town, at the C. P. R. Dining Hall, corner Douglas and Johnson streets, up stairs. No Chinese whatever employed.

—The annual Thanksgiving Festival was held in Christ Church Cathedral on Wednesday evening. Archdeacon Scriven and Rev. Mr. Beanlands and Taylor officiating. A large congregation was present.

—Mr. W. Beaumont, of the Maple Bay hotel and store, caught a thief in the act of robbing his store on Saturday night. Mr. B. retreated for an instant for reinforcements of artillery, and when he returned, the robber had escaped, but without booty.

—The editor of the Columbian not wishing to lie under the aspersions of the Kamloops Sentinel, takes the trouble to say that he is not a descendant of Brian Boru. He desires that it should be widely known that he is not an Irishman.

—Philip Chook has been taken from Victoria to Nanaimo by Constable Stewart, on a charge of cutting and wounding Richard Nightingale about twelve years ago, and with escaping from gaol previous to trial. The Nanaimo justice mill would seem to grind exceedingly slow.

—Mr. R. Offerhaus, a teacher in the high school, in a card which appears in a morning contemporary, invites "Parent," whose letter was published in THE TIMES of the 4th inst., to address the secretary of the school board in reference to the charges contained in said letter, when the matter will be duly investigated.

—"Whenever there is a decrease in the customs receipts at Victoria, the papers are careful to conceal the fact; but when it's an increase, they never forget it."—Columbian. The Victoria papers are agreed on one point—that "it is a dirty bird that fouls its own nest." The one or two of the species on the mainland is changed the date of Thanksgiving Day because the 5th of November was Guy Fawkes' day, the inference would be that it was a bad day to give thanks. Ergo, the discovery of the gunpowder plot was a regrettable occurrence. What has our logical friend of the Columbian to say to that reasoning?

The mayor's horse acted very unbecomingly yesterday afternoon when passing Jumbo. He became frightened, and suddenly "adjourned" to the side of the road and "moved" the head of the corporation into "committee of the hole." His Worship peremptorily ruled the proceedings "out of order," resumed his seat and the reins of government, declared the "previous question" carried and "adjourned sine die."

THE CHINESE FAMILY.

Mr. Moore, the Englishman who arrived from China with a Chinese wife and family called at our office to rectify an error into which the press has fallen in respect to his treatment by the San Francisco customs authorities. He was not prohibited from landing there, and himself and family remained at a San Francisco hotel for three days. The fact that he was an Englishman, he thinks, obtained for him better treatment under the Stars and Stripes than it does in this portion of his own country. He is pretty confident, however, that the Dominion Government will order the refund of his money. In China the authorities classed his wife as a foreigner, because she had married a husband of another nationality. The question now is if she is neither Chinese or English, what is she?

Always ahead. Fell & Co. have already received a supply of this season's fruit.

THE HICKS MYSTERY.

Continuation of the Inquest on the Death of John Hicks.

The inquest into the cause of the death of John Hicks was resumed to-day at 9 a. m. before Coroner Johnson. The following is the evidence taken:

Charles Braund, sworn—I am a clerk in Mr. Morton's store on Government street. I knew the deceased, John Hicks: I first became acquainted with him in January 1884, at the Occidental Hotel in this city. I was very intimate with him. He left for England about the end of September last year and returned the beginning of March, 1885. I do not know anything about his money affairs; he always seemed to have plenty. I was in his company on the evening he was found shot. It was at my request he came to town that evening. I saw him twice that day, about 10 o'clock in the morning; I remember that particularly, as he requested me to change a $20 gold piece. I had not the change in my store; but I went into Spencer's and got it changed for him. He did not show me any other money when he produced it. As he gave me the gold piece I saw his purse—a long leather sack. He was folding it up and I did not notice its bulk. I cannot say whether there was any money in it or not. He put his purse in his pocket. I don't think he put it in his hip pocket. I do not think the purse produced is the same as the one I saw. Mr. Moffatt showed me a purse about twelve o'clock on the night of the affair; it appeared to be newer and longer than the one produced. I believe the one Mr. Moffatt showed me was Hicks purse. After changing the money, Mr. Hicks went away. I saw him again about one o'clock at the store. I did not see him have any money. He was talking about procuring his tickets and he said he would not procure them till he knew what personal baggage his wife and he would have. He referred to the tickets by rail to New York. He had been down to the railway ticket office, and was told that his tickets would cost $150, and $25 for a sleeping car. It was about eight o'clock when I met him in the evening at the skating rink on Yates street. As soon as he came in he said he was very sorry, but he had to go across the bay again. He had to see Mr. Spencer at the Oriental Hotel, as Mr. Spencer was leaving with the Boscowitz in the morning. I walked down Government street, and he at once called a hack and drove across the bay. I asked him if I should wait for him; he told me to go up to the rink; that he would be back in a minute. He was back at the rink at twenty minutes to nine. I know the time particularly, as I asked him what time it was; he pulled his watch out and told me the time. It was a small silver watch with a black face; the figures were white on a black ground. The guard produced is the one he wore. He had a thin black overcoat on. I have often seen his goods unpacked in his room at the hotel, and have never seen a pistol in his possession. I have not seen them unpacked since he returned from his wedding tour. He stayed at the rink about ten minutes and we left together. The reason he left, he said, was because "there were some friends in the house and my wife wishes me to be there." We walked straight down Yates street to McNiffe's saloon. We had a glass of beer each there—that was all. We then went to Campbell's corner; we met Dr. Praeger there. They had some little conversation. We wished the doctor good-night, and walked from there to the Oriental. I wished him good-night outside and he went up stairs to the private apartments. This is the last I saw of him till I saw him after the occurrence. He appeared to be in his usual spirits. I remember we went into the Brown Jug saloon. I think it was the first time we came to town from the skating rink. He had a drink there. He had only two drinks in my company during the day. I have never seen him in a depressed mental condition. He never talked to me about his money or what he would do when he got back to England. I was not with him in the Poodle Dog Restaurant; he told me he was going there for lunch. The day previous he bought a packing case—a second-hand one. While in my company that day I think he would spend about 50 cents. I gave him a present the day before he was shot. I sent it to him. He thanked me on the rink for it in behalf of Mrs. Hicks; it was given to her. I always found him to be honorable and truthful; he was also punctual and methodical in his habits. He went to church regularly; he did not smoke, and he was temperate. I have to mention about a small draft he got from the old country. I met him on Yates street; he told me he had just been to the post office, and had met with a stroke of luck. A party who owed him some money in the old country had just sent it; I think he said it was for £5, and he never expected to get it. A gentleman in this room owes Mr. Hicks twenty dollars. Two or three days after Hicks returned from Portland, he told me that this gentleman who owed the money expected to have it in two or three days after, and that he told him to leave it with Mr. Pither, and he had asked that gentleman to take care of anything that came for him. He added that he did not ask for the money, nor did he want it then.

Mr. Ward, sworn; I am manager of the Bank of British Columbia. I know nothing at all of the Hicks affair. I only know of a post office order, payable to Jno. Hicks, passing through the bank a day or two before he was shot. I think it was for between £5 and £6. It was an English order. I should certainly think it would not be possible to get any quantity of Bank of British Columbia notes in one. I think the purse produced would hold $200 in gold and $1600 in $50 notes, but it would be a tight fit. I have seen lots of people carry more, but I should think it would not be at all comfortable. There are many money changers in London; I do not think one could get twenty dollars of B. of B. C. notes among them. When money changers buy foreign notes they do not hold them, but send them to their original source to be realized.

Supt. Bloomfield, sworn: I was present on the 29th of last month at the house of Mr. Moffatt, James Bay, in this city, when John Hicks, the deceased, gave his evidence under oath. His deposition I produce. He was lying in bed with a shot wound. He appeared perfectly sensible. He gave his evidence in answer to questions freely. I think he must have known his life was in danger at that time. He made his will on that occasion. One thing I think is omitted in the deposition regarding the notes. He stated he got them in London, while the deposition says England. On the night of the shooting Mr. Moffatt showed me a tie which, I understood, had been taken from the wounded man; it did not appear to me to be strained. I did not examine it closely. It was an ordinary tie and would not stand much strain in a struggle. He told me at that time that nobody knew he had the money. I asked him which bank he got it from; he said he had not taken the money out of the bank, but had had it in his possession a long time. He also gave me the description of one of the men who shot him, as also stated in his deposition, and I caused every means of search to be instituted. I think the pistol is of English manufacture and the cartridges American. How I think so, is because the English calibre is a little larger than the American, and American cartridges of a certain calibre put into an English arm of the same calibre, the shell will invariably burst the same as the ones produced.

DEPOSITION OF JOHN HICKS.

I was shot last evening somewhere between nine and ten in the street, running from the harbor past this house (Mr. H. Moffatt's). I only remember the features of one of the men who did it. I was coming from the town to Mr. Moffatt's house, walking in the middle of the street, when I saw two men coming across my path on the cross street. I was a little in advance of them. They were walking together. The first thing I remember was my hat was blown off my head by I suppose a bullet, because I heard a report of firearms. The men were then behind me. I cannot say how near—say ten yards. I turned round and one of them seized me by the throat and necktie. He drew the necktie tight, nearly choking me, so that I could not speak distinctly, and the other or both together threw me. One of them then commenced to rifle my pockets. I said, "for God's sake spare my life," but he still went on turning my pockets inside out while the other held me. I struggled and then I heard another shot fired close to me; but I did not feel anything. I was powerless in their hands. I cried out "murder" at the top of my voice. They said something to each other; but I could not catch what it was. While I was struggling I saw something glisten. I knew what it was; it was a pistol; it was in the shortest man's hand. He fired and I think I rolled on my side. He was standing over me, and the pistol could not have been many inches from me: it was right over my stomach. After that shot I distinctly saw him make for the fence, and the other man as well as I could tell, ran down the street towards the harbor. The tall man was about my build with a black moustache. I do not remember ever seeing him before. I suppose he was middle aged; as well as I could judge he had darkish clothes. I could not see the face of the short man. I could not say whether they unbuttoned any clothes, but I think they unbuttoned my vest. I always carry my papers in the inside pocket of my coat. They took from my pants pocket behind a chamois leather purse. Roughly speaking there was from $1800 to $2000 in the purse. It was in gold $20 pieces and notes. I think about $200 gold, and the rest bank of B. C. notes. The greatest part of it was in my possession from April last. I brought it from the old country. I got both the gold and the notes in England. I have received one small draft and some post office orders since I came to this country. I cashed a post office order that very morning. I had a silver stem-winding watch on me, with a half hunter case. I don't think I was wearing a scarf pin, because I had a tie with a knot. I had on a pair of gold sleeve links and a gold collar stud, plain gold. I never let anybody know what money I had. I came up past the drill shed and turned round Tiedemann's corner, on my way from town. There was not a word before the man fired. As soon as the man had fired into my stomach they both ran away. That was the shot that wounded me. I went to the skating rink about a quarter to nine last evening to meet a friend who had sent me a wedding present, and he walked with me as far as Fort and Government streets. This was Chas. Braund, who is in Mr. Morton's bookstore. We went into the saloon at the corner of Fort and Government streets, and had a Scotch whiskey. Then we went to the Oriental and parted just outside the restaurant. We also went into the grotto saloon after coming from the rink earlier in the evening. The majority of the notes were $50 notes.

(Signed) JOHN HICKS.

Sworn before E. Johnson, P. M.

MRS. HICK'S EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Hicks, sworn—I was married to Mr. Hicks on the 14th of October. We went to Portland and from there to Salem after the marriage. We stayed two days in Portland and a week in Salem. I have seen a purse like the one produced in my husband's possession. I have seen it frequently. He generally carried it in his hip pocket. He had money in it. I don't know how much. He had both gold and notes. He never showed the money to me. I don't know whether it was fastened or not. The purse looked rather large. I cannot say whether it was full or not. He never told me how much money he had. He never talked to me about it. I never saw him have a pistol in his possession. I don't think he could have a pistol without my knowing it. I have examined all his pockets before and after we came back from Portland. He had no packages that I did not examine; I packed everything. We had no differences. When examined his pockets I never thought of looking how much money he had. I cannot say whether his purse was folded or not. I was with him when he died. I don't think he ever mentioned to me about his being shot. He did not tell me how it happened. On the morning of the day he was shot he took out his purse to give me some money. It was then I saw both gold and notes. He gave me a five dollar note. There was quite a number in a roll in his hand. He had some gold in his hand at the same time. I can't say what coins they were. I was packing up in the afternoon with him. He was not at all nervous. He did not mention any forebodings of trouble. We were both very quiet, and I said I think we have both got the blues because we are going away. He had not much jewelry. I saw only one pair of sleeve links, belonging to him. The sleeve links produced belonged to him. He had only one watch. I don't know where it is now. I know that Mr. Moffatt found the sleeve links. I believe the writing on paper memorandum of expenses. I saw him writing during Wednesday afternoon while we were packing, but I did not know what it was. He asked me what baggage I would take, and I told him only those two trunks. I knew that the tickets were not taken. He did not ask me to leave any baggage behind him. He never told me that he was going to England on account of his health. I did not help to remove his clothing after he was shot. I did not see him being brought in; it was a few minutes after. We were always together in Portland, and he went nowhere without me. He went out one morning in Salem without me. I don't know of any special business he had. I have asked him several times for money. He always gave it to me willingly, and often asked me if I wanted any. I cannot say whether he kept all his money in his purse or not. He had a small leather case with a pocket on each side. It is at Mr. Moffatt's house.

Mr. Sargison, sworn: I am a clerk in the post office money order department. I know of two orders for Mr. Hicks. The first one was issued in London, dated March 10th, 1885, drawn by John Hicks and payable to John Hicks at Victoria, B. C. It was paid on April 6th to deceased. The amount was £6 10. He told me that he had sent the money himself. He gave no reason for doing so. The next order was issued on October 5th, 1885, at Wanstead, E. London, for £5 10, drawn by J. A. Jenkins, payable to John Hicks. It was stamped for payment to deceased on Oct. 27th, between three and four o'clock. Those are all I can remember coming through the post office.

Mr. Thomas Earle, sworn: I am a merchant on Wharf street; I knew the deceased John Hicks; he was employed by Mr. Spencer and myself at Alert Bay for the last two seasons. In 1884 he assisted in fishing and the general work about the cannery. The past season he was engaged in the bath room and in keeping the accounts of the cannery. Our firm paid him $50 per month for last season; and I think he was employed about five months. When he came down from the cannery this fall there was a balance due him of $200. On leaving the order he said he only wanted $50, that he would get the balance when he required it. He drew the balance a short time before he was married. In addition to that he had a cheque on the London Bank for £15 which I also cashed for him. He got the balance of $150 and the proceeds of the cheque $72.60 on the 9th of October. He always led me to believe that it was necessary for him to work. I did not think he had any means. I offered him a job to go back to the cannery at the same salary as he got before. I found him honest and straight-forward and had implicit confidence in him. When he came back from England last spring he told me that he and his brother were in the London Stock Exchange, and I inferred from what he said that both he and his brother had means at the time. His reason he said for going home last fall was on account of his brother's bad health, caused through failing in business. He spoke of himself very little, and never discussed his standing to anyone he came in contact with at the cannery. He told me he had at one time been in the diamond fields in South Africa.

ORANGE CELEBRATION.

Supper and Entertainment on the Anniversary of the "Gunpowder Plot."

The anniversary of the "Gunpowder Plot" was celebrated on Thursday by a supper and musical entertainment, in the Temperance Hall, under the auspices of Victoria Lodge, No. 1426. The chair was occupied by County Master Higgins, of St. Catherines, Ontario. After supper the entertainment was opened by Rev. Mr. Percival, who spoke on the principles of the order, which he said were based on the sacred scriptures and do not interfere with the religious beliefs of any. Later in the evening Rev. Mr. Frazer also addressed the meeting in a few appropriate observations. The musical portion of the programme was exceedingly well rendered, the songs of the blue jackets and the other vocalists being received with enthusiasm. The evening's entertainment was a very pleasant one throughout.
